

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Robbery.

WILMINGTON, N. C.:

FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1873.

From the Philadelphia Press.

North Carolina Speaks for Meek-

Cutting Affray.

There is something more than refreshing—something truly touching—in the Centennial news we are receiving from the South. Virginia has spoken, cheeringly, being willing, out of her poverty, soon to be relieved, to give us what aid she can, and now North Carolina follows. Her words do not lack emphasis for the action taken by the Legislature of this State is singularly graceful and impressive. It is characterized, not only by extreme good taste and judgment, but by a sense of historic justice. The feelings of the people of the South were dressed. He states that a fight occurred between Woods and another man, and he interfered to part them. Woods then turned upon him and gave him a blow. Woods was then struck, and they will probably very considerably impair the beauty of Nance's face.—Daily Journal, 11th.

Bold Burglary.

On last Saturday night, some time after midnight, a bold robbery was effected at the residence of Capt. W. B. Beery, near the corner of Fifth and Nine streets. The property of Mr. R. H. Smith, who was engaged in a general mercantile book, containing some $20 in money, was taken off. Mr. Beery awoke on Sunday morning to find his clothes on the staircase, with the pockets rifled. Fortunately, his wife was away on the mantelpiece, excepted the money from his pocket. The entrance into the room was effected through the back door of the house, and the burglar left at the front door, which he unlocked to escape.

Wolf Pitt Ahead.

A friend informs us that three farmers near Wolf Pitt, Onslow county, made the following amounts of cotton to the acre :

One raised six bales on five acres. A second raised ten bales on nine acres.

A third raised thirteen bales on thirteen acres. On four and a half acres he raised seven bales, and on two and a half acres he raised five bales. These bales averaged four hundred and forty-nine and a quarter pounds. These farmers used the Simpson cotton seed.

Who can beat Wolf Pitt?

Monks Past High Priests.

The Masonic fraternity of this city have suspended in St. John's Hall, where their meetings are held, picture in group of the Past High Priests who were well known in the community, "the pledge of life and fortune and sacred honor," which are ordinarily credited to the latter manifesto. But we note, too, reading the twenty-six names which are signed to it, the names of the Rev. Dr. Irvin, Dr. Irwin, Dr. Kenney, Dr. Morrissey, Dr. Irwin, Dr. John A. Lillingston, Dr. James E. McRae, Gen. Alexander MacRae, Gen. H. H. Marsteller, Captain Burr, Jr., Capt. Thomas Cowan, Esq., Henry P. Russell, Esq., Isaac Northrop, Esq., Capt. Albert M. Moore, Capt. P. W. Van Dusen, Capt. Alfred McMillan, Esq., Adam Empire, Dr. Thomas M. Gardner, Esq., Dr. Thomas B. Carr, C. M. Vandorsell, Esq.,

Caught the Scoundrel.

Our readers will be readily gratified to learn that the scoundrel who threw a bullet of woodthrough the window of a New York steamship, and elsewhere, will not be allowed to go free. The trial of the degree infernal of the Political cabalization at Philadelphia, which takes place over twelve months after the proposed exhibition at Charlotte, indeed, it will rather be in furthering the cause of the scoundrel, who has been employed as a trick hand for some time past. For certain reasons we abstain from giving the manner in which his detection was effected. Since it is said that it was the scoundrel who was responsible for the foul play, he was exposed to the public gaze, and disgraced with President Bridgers and Superintendent Anderson, who were determined to spare neither pain nor expense in ferreting him out and bringing him to justice. The scoundrel has been exposed to the public gaze, and disgraced for the offence, which he now only secured, but the evidence against him is said to be positive and convincing. He was arrested on Sunday night by the Sheriff of Columbus county, and is now in jail at Whiteville.

To our South Carolina Friends.

Our list of subscribers to the Daily Journal, a Southern paper, has not been issued on either our desire or the interest of the people should make it. To the business men of South Carolina, especially in the interior of the State, directly connected with us, we say, if you have not yet written to us, do so at once, and we will be pleased to correspond with you. We have no objection to your doing so, and in this respect distance our Charleston friends. For instance, subscribers in Florence, a point about equidistant from Wilmington and Charleston, receive the Journal, and are anxious to know about the new law, passed by the Legislature, which makes it the laying down of arms, and prejudices, and resentments. It is the proof,—this recognition of ancient principles, and mutual rights—which has been most cordial.

We are gratified to see the most Mecklenburg rebels, by name, one of them still lives a scolded and still disenchanted life. It should not be forgotten that this name is connected with a gentle act and deed of charity, and the most heroic of charters. On the 22d of July, 1862, a scolded between the warring hosts, for the general exchange of prisoners, was taken up in the banks of the James. If "bible" the signatures of David W. Hill, now living in Mecklenburg, and John C. Calhoun, the great statesman of New York, May the Mecklenburg celebration of 1873, be the complete re-enactment of the whole hand! This is that one Philadelphian commemoration example is bringing forth good fruit everywhere.

South Carolina Items.

Gov. Moses is due in Charleston with the Hibernians, on the 15th.

The Charleston big factory is now in full operation, and is running at a capacity of from 4,000 to 4,500 bales per day.

The Columbia, Carolina agent, Mr. Jacob Bell died at about six o'clock yesterday morning at the residence of his son-in-law, Dr. C. A. Anderson. He had recovered from a fit of nervousness on the first day of the present year, at which time he enjoyed unusual mental vigor, although his body had, for some months, become enfeebled by the weight of years.

The voluminous Wilmington Journal, the friends of the Rev. A. G. Carpenter, now in this State, and their sympathizers, will be gratified to learn that he is now located in New Orleans, in charge of the mission schools established by the brotherhood of Dr. Palmer's church. Mr. Witherpoon was a faithful champion in the late war, and was confined for some months as a prisoner on Johnson's Island.

—South Carolina says: The friends of Mrs. J. M. Gardner, Esq., now in this State, and their sympathizers, will be gratified to learn that he is now located in New Orleans, in charge of the mission schools established by the brotherhood of Dr. Palmer's church.

Mr. W. B. Carpenter, a young man, was captured by a party of rebels, who had made a raid upon the town, which induced him to take refuge in the hills to save the building, with the help of two neighbors on the premises. Their efforts proved unavailing, however, and they were forced at last to burn the building, and to remove the furniture. The origin of the fire was clearly accidental, resulting from a defective fuse, as the flames first issued from the ceiling adjoining the chimney.
